ROAD BUILDING

LAND VALUES ARE INCREASED

Country Residents Enjoy Good Roads and Are Ever Within Reach of Good Markets.

In England the highest ambition of a majority of well-to-do men is to have a "place" in the country. They don't hanker after city living the year around; indeed, they don't hanker after it at all, except as it may be forced upon them in order that they may live near their business. But the minute their business reaches such a point as to afford them some leisure, or the minute they acquire sufficient means to retire, they seek a home in the country. England has good roads, though in very early times none were worse, and these country residents are never beyond the reach of good markets and of the supplies which good markets offer. A country house ten miles from a market town, but connected with it by a good road—a road good at all seasons and in all weathers—isn't really so difficult of access as some country houses within a mile of some of our city limits. Has it ever occurred to landholders in some of our own towns that good roads to their lands would not only bring those lands nearer the markets they raise produce for, but would also bring those lands nearer the city where business men do business, make them more available for residence and increase their value? No man wants to travel two or more miles every day to and from the city where his business is located over such "roads" as we have found existing in various parts of the country. No wonder the "state road" system has become so popular. But many men would be glad to drive their buggy or auto five or even more miles every day if the roads offered them were such that the drive was a daily pleasure and did not put them at an unreasonable distance from their offices in point of time.

OPERATION OF A ROAD DRAG

Some Simple Lessons Given by Man Who Learned by Years of Experience—Helper Is Needed.

Here are some simple lessons, worth considering, which I have learned by years of experience with the road drag, writes John K. Goodman in Progressive Farmer.

1. Make your drag reversible (i. e., to move dirt right or left) by altering the hitch. Have the hind section about five-sixths the length of the front one; and face both front and rear sections entire length with iron or steel.
2. For best results under varying conditions of road surface as to dry, damp, hard or soft, I find it pays to have a man along at the end of a rope attached to the rear end of drag to properly steer the machine, and counteract its tendency to slide around hard bumps which need trimming off and smoothing. It is not so easy a matter as talking about it, for one man (the driver) to rightly direct the course and work of the drag by stepping from point to point, as common directions go; in fact, oftentimes impossible. Then the driver's weight is not always needed on the drag, but can be there in an instant when required.

Floor Highways.
Poor highways lessen the profit of labor, increase the cost of living, burden the enterprise of the people, dull the morality of our citizenship and hold down the educational advancement of the country.

Add to Selling Price.
Good roads in your vicinity add to the selling price of the products of your farm.

Marks of Plymouth Rocks.
Originally, the Barred Rock, oldest of the Plymouth Rocks by many years, had five toes, but now these never appear. Originally, in the old flocks one would appear now and then showing feathers on the legs of the then best pure-bred. Should this happen today, one would discard it immediately as far from pure-bred.

Part of Race Track Crowd at State Fair

THIS photograph, taken at the eleventh annual Kentucky State Fair in 1913, shows part of the crowd witnessing thrilling and exciting events. The early closing events for the 1914 Kentucky State Fair, to be held Sept. 14-19, have filled better than ever before recorded in State Fair history.

FARM STOCK

WATER REQUIRED BY SHEEP

Costs More and More to Produce Meat as Moisture Decreases and Dry Matter Increases.

Experiments have shown that cattle given plenty of water with their pasture contained more moisture and less dry matter than did the carcasses of cattle given pasture, but no additional moisture. It is a generally accepted principle of feeding that it costs more and more to produce meat as the moisture decreases and the dry matter increases. From this we are able to deduce the fact that it cost less to grow the steers that have plenty of water, and so made watery carcasses than it did to grow steers that had no water other than in their food and produced a dry carcass.

What is true in the cases of steers would hold equally true with sheep. Sheep given plenty of water will produce mutton more cheaply than will those deprived of it. Muscle expansion will be more active in the one case than in the other, and that is another reason why mutton production would be cheaper.

There is considerable water in any of the pasture crops that sheep eat, and they get still more moisture from the dew that collects on the grass blades in early morning and late evening; but from these two sources, while it gets enough water to keep it alive, a sheep still does not get enough to keep it in the very best growing condition nor to keep all its bodily processes going on in the most effective manner possible. There is not an organ in the body that can function properly without water to aid it. Being one of the chief constituents of blood, water is carried to every part of the system, and not alone helps it in getting its nourishment, but also in ridding it of impurities. It is obvious that a large amount of water must be necessary to keep the sheep doing well. Enough is not got with the feed and this amount should be supplemented by all the sheep will drink when given constant access to it.

FEEDING TROUGH FOR SWINE

Heretofore Troublesome Task Made Easy By Placing Receptacle Outside of Fence.

The feeding of hogs in a trough is always a troublesome task, as the hogs will get in the way of the food if it is in liquid form, and prevent the trough from filling evenly. One farmer overcame this difficulty by setting the trough on the outside of the fence and hinging a panel of the fence so that the bottom would swing outward. A stop is placed at each end to hold the panel in place while the food is poured in the trough. The stops are also used to prevent the panel from being pushed farther than the outside of the trough. The food is placed in the trough evenly and then the stops are raised and lowered to catch on the outside edge of the trough. The trough should be secured to the fence post at each end.

FROM ARMENIAN COOKS

RECIPES THAT ARE WELL WORTH CONSIDERATION.

Economical and Nutritious Preparations Made Possible Through the Use of Green Things That Nature Lavishly Provides.

This is the season for squaring up accounts with Mother Nature and the world at large. If you have been over-eating, cut down and change your diet, overworking, cease for a little and take breath; too closely housebound, let things go for a day or two and get out into the fields, following the needle of your nature that points toward the country. And first, the diet. Are you eating plenty of green, plenty of spinach, onion and greens of all sorts? Vegetable salads should be on the table once or twice a day, and below I am going to give you some Armenian dishes where very little meat, combined with vegetables and seasonings, make hearty, nutritious, acceptable and extremely economical dishes.

Spinach With Meat.—Ingredients: Meat, one pound of mutton or lamb fat and lean; spinach, two quarts; dry onions, two or three, medium size; broth or plain water, two cupsful; eggs, one; lemons, one; salt and pepper to season.

Cut the meat into egg-sized portions and fry it in its own fat with the coarsely chopped onions until a light brown. Mix with this the well cleaned, washed and coarsely cut spinach. Season to taste, add the broth and cook over a moderate fire until the meat is tender. Serve with a dressing made of the beaten egg and the juice of the lemon, mixed and blended with a portion of the broth.

Spinach With Minced Meat.—Use for this one pound of mutton or lamb (some fat), two quarts of spinach, two or three medium-sized onions (dry), one tablespoonful of butter, one cup of broth, four eggs, salt and pepper to season. Clean the spinach thoroughly, cut in pieces, not too small, boil in plain water eight to ten minutes, then strain. Mince the meat and fry in the butter with the onions, finely chopped. When these are ready, lay half the spinach in a deep pan, pour over this the fried meat in one layer, meanwhile seasoning each layer with salt and pepper as you proceed. Cover with the rest of the spinach, pour over all the broth (which is obtained by cooking bones, bits of meat, etc., in water) and boil over a moderate fire or bake in a hot oven. Just before serving make four hollow places on the surface of the spinach with the back of a spoon, and break an egg into each. Cook two or three minutes longer until the eggs are done and serve. This gives a hearty, digestible low-priced dish.

Dolmas or Stuffed Dishes.—The "dolma" is a simple and nutritious oriental dish, easily prepared and cooked. It is a stuffing that though easily varied as to seasonings has one general foundation. It is used with tomatoes, green peppers, cucumbers, vegetable marrow, eggplants, onions, cabbage, vine leaves and quinces. The standard dolma mixture consists of the following ingredients: Meat, one pound of fat and lean lamb or mutton, ground fine; rice, one-quarter pound, well washed; dry onions, three or four medium size, finely chopped; parsley, one bunch, chopped; water, two or three tablespoonfuls; salt and pepper, to taste. Mix by hand in a large bowl, and if there is more stuffing than needed make walnut-sized balls of the remainder and cook with the "dolma."—Washington Star.

To Clean Sewing Machine.
To clean a sewing machine, use plenty of kerosene. Fill your oil can with it and oil carefully every working part that you can reach. Then sew rapidly on some cheap piece of goods to distribute the oil. Then take a chambray skin, or a soft piece of cloth that will leave lint, and wipe up all the surplus oil.

DAIRY

DAIRY CATTLE PERFORMANCE

High Records Are Found Among All Prominent Breeds and They Are Increasing in Number.

When a cow will produce twenty times her own body weight in milk in a year, she may certainly be regarded as a valuable piece of property. When a cow will produce 800 to 1,000 pounds of butter fat in a year, she is a prize.

Such records as these are found among all the prominent dairy breeds and they are increasing in number in each breed at a most satisfactory rate. Just now there is a competition for the championship in milk and butter production in the Guernsey breed. The championship of that breed is held by Spotswood Daisy Pearl and her owners are using every means to improve her record, while a Pennsylvania cow, May Billa, is contesting her championship with vigor. This Pennsylvania cow has produced 811 pounds of butter fat in nine months, and both she and the present champion are being fed under the most improved methods, which include a variety of grain and forage and the addition of a succulent ration, such as beet pulp or something of that kind, to increase the appetite and make the ration more effective.

TEMPERATURE FOR CHURNING

Expert of Idaho Experiment Station Gives Three Important Factors in Art of Making Butter.

(By G. E. FRETWELL, Dairymen, Idaho Experiment Station.)

The temperature at which cream should be churned should be determined by a trial churning at about 54 degrees F. If the butter comes quickly and is soft, churn at a lower temperature next time. If it comes firm and requires a long time to churn a higher temperature should be used next time.

The churning temperature will be affected by the following factors:
1. The hardness or softness of the butter fat. Feed, breed and individuality determine hardness or softness of butter fat.
2. Amount of ripening. Sour cream may be churned at a higher temperature than sweet cream.
3. Temperature cream was held at previous to churning. High temperature in ripening and holding requires lower temperature in churning.

COULD SCARCELY WALK ABOUT

And For Three Summers Mrs. Vincent Was Unable to Attend to Any of Her Housework.

Pleasant Hill, N. C.—"I suffered for three summers," writes Mrs. Walter Vincent, of this town, "and the third and last time, was my worst. I had dreadful nervous headaches and prostration, and was scarcely able to walk about. Could not do any of my housework."

I also had dreadful pains in my back and sides and when one of those weak, sinking spells would come on me, I would have to give up and lie down until it wore off.

I was certainly in a dreadful state of health, when I finally decided to try Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I firmly believe I would have died if I hadn't taken it.

After I began taking Cardui, I was greatly helped, and all three bottles relieved me entirely.

I fattened up, and grew so much stronger in three months, I felt like another person altogether."

Cardui is purely vegetable and gentle-acting. Its ingredients have a mild, tonic effect, on the womanly constitution.

Cardui makes for increased strength, improves the appetite, tones up the nervous system, and helps to make pale, sallow cheeks, fresh and rosy.

Cardui has helped more than a million weak women, during the past 50 years. It will surely do for you, what it has done for them. Try Cardui today.

SPEAKING OF TRAVEL IN EUROPE,
see America first!

ANYBODY might think that the original command was, "Be fruitful and multiply and replenish the standing armies."

APPARENTLY it is as easy for a nation to find the price of a war as it is for a drunkard to find the price of a drink.

Now is the time to drag out of the scrap book that famous alphabetical poem beginning—
"An Austrian army, awfully arrayed, Bolted by battery-bombed Belgrade."

SOME highly nervous kings and emperors should try Dr. Wilson's famous Mexican remedy. It is specially recommended for war fever.

SOME people spend so much money getting ready for vacations that they can never travel very far. Still, if most of the fun is in the anticipation, what is the difference.

THAT present style of close fitting corset adopted by the women shows that the movement to patronize home industries has invaded the realm of fashion to the conservation of home grown hair.

By command of the kaiser, the German liturgy will now contain prayers for the safety of aeronautes, as well as of sailors of the navy. The canonicist will have to worry along as best he may, without help.

FROM the numerous pictures shown of European soldiers in marching order, one can see by the route step shown that these fellows are not so highly trained as we have been led to believe. The camera shows no such defects when Uncle Sam's boys are passing in review.

THE TWILIGHT OF THE KINGS.

Before establishing hell on earth the pietistic kings commend their subjects to God. Seek the Lord's sanction for the devil's work.

"And now I commend you to God," said the kaiser from his balcony to the people in the street. "Go to church and kneel before God and pray for His help for our gallant army."

Pray that a farmer dragged from a Saxon field shall be speedier with bayonet thrust than a winemaker taken from his vines in the Aube; that a Berlin lawyer shall be steadier with the rifle than a Moscow merchant; that a machine gun manned by Heidelberg students shall not jam and that one worked by Paris carpenters shall.

Pray that a Bavarian hop grower armed in a quarrel in which he has no heart, shall outmatch a wheat grower from Poltava; that Cossacks from the Don shall be lured into barbed wire entanglements and caught by masked guns; that an invader of Salzburg shall blow the head off a baker from the Loire.

"Go to church and pray for help"—that the hell shall be hotter in innocent Ardennes than it is in equally innocent Hessen; that it shall be hotter in innocent Kovno than in equally innocent Posen.

And the pietistic czar commends his subjects to God that they may have strength of arm in a quarrel they do not understand; that they may inflict more sufferings than they are required to endure and the name of Romanoff be greater than the name of Hohenzollern, that it may be greater than the name of Hapsburg, that its territories shall be wider and the territories of Hohenzollern and the territories of Hapsburg less.

The pietistic emperor of Austria commends his subjects to God, to seek divine assistance to crush the peasants of Serbia, dragged from the wheat field when it was ready for the scythe and given to the scythe themselves.

This is, we think, the last call of monarchy upon Divinity when Asmodeus walks in armor. The kings worship Baal and call it God, but out of the sacrifice will come, we think, a resolution firmly taken to have no more wheat growers and growers of corn, makers of wine, miners and fishers, artisans and traders, sailors and storekeepers offered up with prayer to the Almighty in a feudal slaughter, armed against each other without hate and without cause they know, or, if they knew, would give a penny which way it was determined.

This is the twilight of the kings. Western Europe of the people may be caught in this debacle, but never again. Eastern Europe of the kings will be remade and the name of God shall not give grace to a hundred square miles of broken bodies.

If Divinity enters here it comes with a sword to deliver the people from the sword.

It is the twilight of the kings. The republic marches east in Europe.—Chicago Tribune.

Needs of the Kentucky Live Stock Exchange.

The Live Stock Exchange recently organized by the Extension Department of the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station has made a very suspicious beginning at listing stock for sale and also at getting in touch with prospective buyers of live stock; however, like every other business worth while, it meets with its difficulties. For example, it has some requests that it has not as yet been able to fill and on the other hand it has some excellent stock listed for which buyers have not been secured as yet. It is surprising, however, in spite of the dry weather and other unfavorable conditions to notice the heavy demand for both grade and pure bred stock.

By way of explanation to those not familiar with the workings of the live stock exchange of the Experiment Station, the following statement might be made. The Extension Department of the Station was organized to devise efficient means of carrying helpful information to farmers, and others operating to improve the condition of the Kentucky farmer. Among the activities engaged in by this department have been the issuing of special press notices, conducting short courses both at the Agriculture College and in various places over the State where the interest is great enough to warrant it, the organization of farmers' and breeders' associations, conducting educational agricultural exhibits at county and other fairs and exhibitions, the conducting of boys' encampments, etc., for agricultural instruction, the installation of county agricultural agents, the organization of boys' and girls' clubs, the organization and systematic instruction of clover and alfalfa clubs, demonstrations in reclamation of worn out soils, itinerant advisory work the rejuvenation of old orchards, spraying and pruning demonstrations and general horticultural improvement work, the building of barns and silos and general dairy improvement work, the introduction of agriculture into schools, and other such enterprises too numerous to mention.

One of the most recent undertakings is the above mentioned live stock exchange which acts as a medium for those who wish to buy and sell. No fees are charged. No responsibility is assumed by this department, as its only effort is to put the prospective buyer and seller in communication, leaving them to make their own trade. This is a service that should interest and help every farmer in the State but it takes to make such a thing go. The farmer can help not alone by listing stock or offering to buy, but if he knows of prospective buyer or seller he should so inform this office and likewise the interested party. Farmers have been accused of being indifferent as regards the betterment of farmer conditions but this should they do not understand; that they may inflict more sufferings than they are required to endure and the name of Romanoff be greater than the name of Hohenzollern, that it may be greater than the name of Hapsburg, that its territories shall be wider and the territories of Hohenzollern and the territories of Hapsburg less.

The pietistic emperor of Austria commends his subjects to God, to

The Muhlenberg Health Campaign will close Aug. 15. During the remainder of the Campaign Dr. Steele and his assistants, Misses Peterson and Clarkson, representing the State Board of Health will be assisted by Miss Williamson, a visiting nurse of the Kentucky Board of Tuberculosis Commissioners. Numerous cases of hookworm and tuberculosis have been found and a number of cases of typhoid fever are known to exist. It is the duty of every citizen to lend a hand toward the prevention of these preventable conditions. There is no nobler work than can be done in this the peoples campaign for the people. Dr. Steele and his helpers can only lead; the people can by their earnest efforts make it a complete success.

At 10 A. M. and 2 P. M. lectures will be given at each place visited, (citizens at these points will please arrange for a meeting place at a church, school house or hall. No other free accommodations will be asked.) They will reach each point not later than 9 A. M. and remain till 5 P. M.

Hookworm is prevalent in Kentucky and throughout the South and during this Campaign it is the duty of every citizen in the county to be examined. Come to one of the places announced and bring a specimen from your bowel movement (a piece the size of a large bean in a small tin box, this sealed in an envelope containing the name, age and address of person from whom specimen is taken.) Bring one from every member of the family whether apparently sick or well. These specimens will be carefully examined with the microscope by Misses Peterson and Clarkson and if hookworm or other kind of worms are diagnosed by the finding of the eggs in the specimen free treatment will be furnished. Free boxes and envelopes for specimens may be had from any Doctor, Teacher or School Trustee, County official or Dr. Steele. A ballot box will be kept in the hall of the Court House where specimens can be deposited any day during the Campaign. They will be collected from this box every morning and examined at the place billed for that day, and treatment will be mailed if needed. If no evidence of worms is found no report will be sent unless requested by postal card to Dr. Steele at Greenville.

Every person having reason to suspect or fear tuberculosis (consumption) should have the sputum examined; bottles for these specimens will be furnished free. Men, women and children are urged to come out and spend the day and learn how to prevent these and other diseases. This is a public educational health work by demonstration and talks on hygiene and sanitation and should not be misunderstood. No work that is ordinarily done by the physicians of the county will receive attention by Dr. Steele as he will not in any way interfere with the work of these physicians, since they are to be relied upon as the strongest element in this movement.

This movement is for the uplift of Humanity and not for any individual gain or political influence and every good citizen of the county whatever may be their profession, occupation or station in life may be expected to help and encourage this noble lifesaving work. Bring one from every member of the family whether apparently sick or well. These specimens will be carefully examined with the microscope by Misses Peterson and Clarkson and if hookworm or other kind of worms are diagnosed by the finding of the eggs in the specimen free treatment will be furnished. Free boxes and envelopes for specimens may be had from any Doctor, Teacher or School Trustee, County official or Dr. Steele. A ballot box will be kept in the hall of the Court House where specimens can be deposited any day during the Campaign. They will be collected from this box every morning and examined at the place billed for that day, and treatment will be mailed if needed. If no evidence of worms is found no report will be sent unless requested by postal card to Dr. Steele at Greenville.

Every person having reason to suspect or fear tuberculosis (consumption) should have the sputum examined; bottles for these specimens will be furnished free. Men, women and children are urged to come out and spend the day and learn how to prevent these and other diseases. This is a public educational health work by demonstration and talks on hygiene and sanitation and should not be misunderstood. No work that is ordinarily done by the physicians of the county will receive attention by Dr. Steele as he will not in any way interfere with the work of these physicians, since they are to be relied upon as the strongest element in this movement.

This movement is for the uplift of Humanity and not for any individual gain or political influence and every good citizen of the county whatever may be their profession, occupation or station in life may be expected to help and encourage this noble lifesaving work.

"My New Studebaker"

There's a note of pride in the remark. To own a Studebaker buggy is to own the finest, classic looking, lightest running vehicle on the road.

Slender, yet sturdy wheels, flexible bent-reach gear of the new Studebaker pattern, well proportioned, graceful lines, upholstery of the kind that makes you want to lean back and enjoy yourself, and the Studebaker double ironed shafts, strong and shapely.

Why wouldn't any man be proud to own a Studebaker?

ESCAPE

Now since I cannot make it out:
Why people love and lose and die;
Why there is agony and doubt,
And so much cause to brood and cry;
Oh, since I cannot understand
God's will for all the world, and me—
I will go take the wind's cold hand,
And dance a little, foolishly.
The hills are green and simple folk:
The wind is quick with comrade-calls;
White wayside apple trees, and smoke
Of woodfires, and bright waterfalls—
They never hid me understand.
They never say, "You, too, must die,"
I will go take the wind's cold hand.

*You know, I cannot always cry—

Nov. 2, 1913."*

Lower Prices on Ford Cars.

The Ford Motor Co. has issued its new prices on its product, effective August 1, 1914, and guaranteed against reduction until August 1, 1915: Touring car, $490; runabout, $440; town car, $690. If the company can reach an output of 300,000 cars in the period it is agreed to refund to each purchaser from $40 to $60 on each car sold. This makes a possible reduction of $100 to $120 on each car. The agents, Messrs. Irvin & Gilman, have ordered a carload of cars, and anticipate the greatest year's business they have ever had.

MOONLIGHT SCHOOLS.

Hardin, Montgomery, and Lincoln Counties are Fighting Illiteracy.

Hardin county is in the midst of a great educational revival. A week's campaign, with speaking in every school house, has been waged, and moonlight schools are to be opened soon, fifty teachers having volunteered to teach them following an eloquent address and appeal by Mr. Harry A. Sommers. The Hardin county board of education has the distinction of being the first in the State to offer a prize to the teacher who teaches the largest number of illiterates. The Woman's club of Elizabethtown offers the same amount for the same purpose, and is the first Woman's club in the state to offer such a prize. Supt. Payne, of Hardin county, the Hardin county board of Education, Hardin county public school teachers, the Woman's club of Elizabethtown, and Col. Harry A. Sommers and The Elizabethtown News are all banded together to wipe illiteracy out of Hardin. It has not a chance to exist in that county.

Prize Offer to Teachers.

To the Kentucky teachers who writes the best article or story on "My Moonlight School," the Kentucky Society of Colonial Dames will give the sum of $15.00. The conditions are as follows:

The story must be absolutely true in every detail. It must be written by the teacher who taught such school.

It must give date of opening, length of term, enrollment, age of youngest and oldest pupil and results.

It must be sent to the Kentucky Illiteracy Commission, Frankfort, on or before November 1st, 1914.

The judges will be: Dr. J. G. Crabbe, President H. H. Cherry, Hon. Barksdale Hamlett, Supt. Ella Lewis, Mrs. Cora Wilson Stewart.

Lincoln County Fighting Illiteracy.

Lincoln county, which wrote a brilliant page in Kentucky's history through its representative in the last General Assembly, Hon. Shelton M. Saufley, who championed the bill creating the Kentucky illiteracy commission, has written another. Superintendent Garland Singleton and forty-six of his teachers have volunteered to teach moonlight school to wipe out illiteracy. The Stanford Interior Journal and the people of Lincoln county are backing the volunteers enthusiastically.

Every School in Montgomery a Moonlight School.

Montgomery is the first county to have every teacher, both white and colored, to pledge themselves to conduct moonlight schools. Also, Supt. George Sledd, former Supt. M. G. Goodwin and Supervisor O'Rear have enlisted. The moonlight schools of Montgomery county will begin in September, and the teachers will canvass their districts on Labor Day to secure large attendance.

Messrs. Irvin & Gilman are expecting a carload of 1915 Ford automobiles, and are anxious that they get here, as they sold their last two cars Friday and Saturday.

Mr. John S. Brizendine last week

Mr. John S. Brizendine last week purchased a Ford runabout from Irvin & Gilman, agents. The car will be used by Mr. Brizendine in traveling over his territory for Zinsmeister & Co., wholesale grocers, Louisville, and will be a great help to him in covering his Western Kentucky territory.

Ptomain Poisoning Causes Death.

Mr. Gillam Tooley, aged 20 years, died at the home of his mother, Mrs. John Tooley, near Rosewood, at 4:30 o'clock last Sunday morning, after an illness of a few hours. He had been out to an ice cream social and came home about midnight, complaining that he had been thrown by his mule, and was sick. His mother attended him, and at his request left the room, as he declared he would be all right. Presently she heard him suffering from an attack of nausea, and again went to his room, finding him in great distress, and he soon died. Next morning his brothers and some friends went to the spot where he said he had been thrown by the mule and no evidence of such could be found in the road anywhere. Under the circumstances it was considered best to have a coroner's inquest, to which several witnesses were summoned, and two or three physicians were in attendance. It developed that Tooley had eaten a can of sardines before he went to the ice cream party, and the jury declared, on advice of the doctors, that ptomain poisoning was the cause of death. Mr. Tooley was a very popular young man, and his sudden death was a great shock to his wide circle of friends. He was the member of a family of twenty-two children, and his death was the eleventh, thus leaving just half of the family living. There was a large gathering at the burial Monday afternoon.

First State Primary Saturday.

The first election held in Kentucky under the new primary law was held last Saturday, with a fair day and a full vote. Ex-Governor J. C. W. Beckham, democrat, Ex-Governor A. E. Wilson, republican, and Burton Vance, of Louisville, progressive, were nominated for the long term in the United States senate. Nominees for the short senatorial term are Senator Johnson N. Camden, democrat; William Marshall Bullitt, republican, and George C. Nicholas, progressive.

In the Third Congressional district the following were the nominees: J. Frank Taylor, republican; Newton Belcher, progressive; R. Y. Thomas, Jr., democrat. Thomas made a runaway race, beating his opponent in his home county, and in the district having a majority of more than a thousand.

There was no disorder, and no cry of fraud. There was no evidence of corruption, and little if any whisky or money used by any party.

New Business House Soon.

A great many people will be pleased over the announcement of a new firm that will operate here. Mr. Fred Head and Mrs. Sadie Neal will, about September 10, open a first-class dry goods, men's and women's furnishings and shoe establishment in the new Yeagin building, on South Main street. Both members of the firm have had large experience, are well qualified, and their wide acquaintance and general popularity insure the success of the enterprise. Everything will be up-to-date, fresh, dependable goods will be handled, and a strong bid will be made for the public's favors. This will be a welcome addition to the city's active business houses.

The open season for doves is on, beginning the first, but there has been little hunting. There will be a great dropping off in the number of hunting licenses issued this season, it is thought, as the sport was so poor last fall that many hunters have sworn off. Hunting without license is extremely risky, as the game warden all over the State have been urged to extreme activity.

Just about a month until the graded school begins.

Work on the new school building is being rounded up, and it is a certainty that it will be ready when the new term begins. It will be a great addition, and the auditorium will be the best in this section.

Greenville and Central City played a game of baseball on the grounds here last Thursday afternoon, and both teams developed speed. Greenville won 5-4. There was a large attendance.

Chautauqua Practically Assured.

The movement to provide a Chautauqua course here for next summer is proceeding splendidly. Almost a hundred subscribers have been secured, several of whom are parties in the county, who are interested in the advancement of the county, and the welfare of its people. Every subscriber is urged to put forth extra efforts this week, so that the list may be completed, if possible. With a united town and county there is every assurance of the greatest success of this worthy move, and everyone is urged to join in and help. Call at Leslie Hale's or any of the banks and sign, or give your name to almost anyone and it will be signed for you.

Failure of a Political Firm.

Owing to the hard times, war in Mexico and in Europe the Kentucky branch of the Bull Moose Bolting Co., is forced into liquidation and to make an assignment. About two years ago the Bull Moose Bolting Co. was inaugurated at Chicago with considerable political capital and paid up stock. The directors and officers of the concern were thought to be men of shrewd political ability. The President was regarded as a man of genius and brain, and it was thought that he would be able to make a complete success with the business, but unfortunately he proved to be too speculative in his ideas and lacked caution and forethought. The business was started with branch houses established in every state in the nation, supplied with an active troop of drummers, the goods were put upon the market and sales were pressed; many people were, at first, well pleased with the goods, as they presented a glossy finish, but they soon found that they did not wear well and bear washing; they were considered shoddy and made of flyings. Hence, by the extravagance and mismanagement and indifference goods there was a lack of confidence in the productions of the company, and it began to weaken; a great falling off of patronage resulted, many of the stockholders sold out at a discount, and at no time have the stockholders of the company received any dividend. This gave great dissatisfaction and bankruptcy seemed to threaten the entire firm, hence, the Kentucky branch house has had to make an assignment, and ex-Congressman Belcher, a stockholder, has been appointed the assignee of the Third district of Kentucky. He says that he thinks that he will be able to wind up the business by the first of November next, as there are but few assets now on hand. Director and ex-Senator Vance will look after the state assignment; he thinks that he can close up the entire business of Kentucky by the first of November. We hear people say who bit at the catch, that they can fool some of the people some of the time, but they cannot fool all of the people all the time with shoddy goods.

REPORTER.

Be quick, and be one of the hundred and twenty-five subscribers to the Chautauqua course.

Miss Marie Wright, of Hopkinsville and Miss Mable Benton, of Pine Bluff, Ark., were the guests of Miss Aileen Morton the first of the week.

There will be a meeting of special importance to the members of I. O. O. F. No. 94 at the lodge room here Saturday night. Matters of vital importance to the lodge will be considered, and it is hoped every member will be present and participate.

There was a large crowd in town yesterday attracted by the trial of the so-called "Possum Hunters" who made an attack on the store of the Bevier Coal Co. about three weeks ago. There were several men shot in the melee, it is claimed, but these injured declare their wounds were inflicted by some drunken men they passed on the railroad track some distance from the store. The case was on trial when we went to press.

Still, the kitchen is the heart of the home. It is the place where the family gathers, where the day's work is done, and where the day's rest is taken. It is the place where the family's happiness is centered, and where the family's future is built. It is the place where the family's love is shown, and where the family's life is lived.

HINTS WORTH REMEMBERING.

When traveling carry with you a small apron made of toweling with two or three pockets made by turning up the hem and stitching the pockets in the hem. When you remove your stockings at night put them in one of the pockets and keep the others for comb and brush and other toilet articles. For those who have had this convenience nothing can take its place.

When washing gingham dresses there are four things to remember: Avoid hot water, strong soap, hard rubbing and hot starch. A little salt added to the water will brighten the colors. Delicate fabrics not much soiled should be washed in thin starch water.

An excellent thing for indigestion is a buttered cracker sprinkled generously with cayenne pepper. The hot spiciness will draw the blood from the brain to the stomach and sleep will be the result.

Two strong tapes sewed to the corners of a mattress will be a great aid in turning and lifting it. To add white linen in a good dish of water for bottles and pans, and it is easily kept clean by scalding in boiling water.

To save splashing shortcake put a layer of the biscuit mixture in a pan, butter the top and lay on another layer of biscuit dough. When baked, the shortcake will be easily separated without any ragged edges.

Save all circular envelopes that come unsold. Then when you want a label or a piece of glued paper, cut off the edge that has the mucilage on it and it is all ready to stick wherever it is wanted.

To wash chinlimes and cressonies use rice water, and when thoroughly washed rinse in the rice water with a little gum arabic added to it. Use a handful of boiled rice to rub any soiled spots with, but use no soap.

MORE GOOD THINGS TO EAT.

There are various methods of cooking and serving asparagus, but it should be cooked until tender whatever may be the after methods of serving.

When it is desired to serve the whole stalk in white sauce or on toast with drawn butter, the stalks so that the lower tougher portions will have the hard cooking, while the tips are steamed. Let the bunch stand upright in the saucepan while cooking.

When the tough portion will not cook tender save those to flavor soup. Lay the cooked stalks, tips all one way, on thin, well-buttered toast, and pour over the sauce. Add but little sauce, for this is not to be milk toast. If more sauce is desired it may be passed in a sauce boat.

Asparagus Cream Soup.—Boil the hard ends of two bunches of asparagus, add a slice of onion and cook until tender. Drain and rub the pulp through a puree-sieve or colander and return the water in which it was cooked, adding a half-teaspoonful of salt.

Scald three cups of milk, cook together two tablespoonfuls each of butter and flour, cook in the asparagus stock and then add the milk. Just when ready to serve beat an egg and add a quarter of a cup of cream; add this to the soup and serve at once.

Mock Duck on Casserole.—Place on a round steamed a hilling of a pint of bread crumbs seasoned with salt, pepper, onion, butter and sage. Roll up the steak and tie or skewer with toothpicks. Place in a casserole, add a cupful of stock or water and bake well covered 45 minutes. The meat may be browned first before baking in a little hot fat; this improves it and gives it a different flavor.

New Beets.—Beets are most delicious if baked. They seem to be sweeter and have a different flavor from those which are boiled. Wash and place them in a saucepan and bake in a hot oven. Slice, after peeling, and serve with butter and a dash of lemon juice, salt and pepper.

MOST ACCEPTABLE JUST NOW

Three Recipes That Are Particularly Appropriate at This Time of the Year.

The Cress.—Pepper grass or garden cress resembles in appearance and flavor the better known water cress. The wild cress grows in constantly running meadow brooks in the temperate and the entire plant is eaten. The pleasant, pungent flavor makes it an agreeable addition to the salad plants and a very attractive garniture for meat and fish dishes. Be sure and break off all the roots. Do not use a knife, however.

Barrel and Spinach Soups.—This is a good summer soup. To a quart of cream add a handful of spinach and a few lettuce leaves. Put them in a saucepan with a large piece of butter and cook tender. Add two quarts of boiling water, season to taste with salt and pepper, and just before serving add two well-beaten eggs and half a cupful of cream. This is an excellent soup for an invalid.

Boiled Spinach, French Method.—Use half a peck of spinach. Wash and pick over the leaves, carefully removing all the wilted ones and the roots. When thoroughly washed put into boiling water with a pinch of soda to keep the bright green color, and cook tender. Then drain in a colander and drench with cold water, as this gives firmness and delicacy attained in no other way. Shake free from water, chop fine, and put into a saucepan. Stir in a tablespoonful of butter, salt and pepper to suit the taste. Add two tablespoonfuls of good cream, and stir until hot; then arrange on a heated dish and rice the yolks of hard boiled eggs over the top, using the vegetable press for the purpose.

FOR THE BEST TOMATO SOUP

Ingredients Should Be of the First Order and Much Care Given to Its Preparation.

Peel two pounds of nice ripe tomatoes and cut in two. Remove seeds. Take a stewpan to hold four quarts of liquid, put therein two ounces of butter, one onion finely chopped, and melt together for three minutes to heat only, but not to color, otherwise the soup will be spoiled, adding one teaspoonful of castor sugar and a little salt. Remove from the fire and add a large tablespoonful of flour. Drop all the tomatoes into the mixture and mix well together. Then add two quarts of meat stock (not clarified), boil briskly, stirring all the while; then allow to boil gently for one hour. Strain off grease from time to time and pass through a fine sieve; return to stewpan, season with pepper and salt or tabasco, and if not thick enough, a little arrowroot or fenelle diluted in a little cold water will slightly thicken and add to the smoothness. This soup is particularly nice with rice and the starch water in which the rice is boiled will serve to thicken the tomato soup.

Chicken à La Monte Carlo. Melt two tablespoonfuls of butter in an earthen dish or casserole with one carrot, three onions sliced, two bay leaves, salt, pepper and some thyme. Add a young fat fowl, cut into joints and let it get brown. Then add one pint of consommé and cover, air tight. Cook three-quarters of an hour. It must simmer all the time. If the fowl is old it will take longer to cook it.

Add two tablespoonfuls sherry, a dozen button mushrooms and some chopped parsley. Let it cook ten minutes more and serve in the sauce dish or the charm of it will be lost.

Almond Cream Squares.

Put two pounds of sugar and a little less than a gill of water into a saucepan. Place the pan on the fire and stir the sugar and water until the mixture starts to boil. When it is boiling thoroughly add a little less than a half a pint of cream, stirring it in, and cook until it forms a soft ball when dropped in cold water.

Take off the fire, add vanilla flavoring and stir until it looks creamy, sprinkling chopped dry blanched almonds in white string; then pour out on greased paper or a marble slab and cut into squares.

Asparagus Stewed.

Cut the points as far as they are perfectly tender into pieces not more than one-half an inch in length. Wash them and throw into boiling salted water. When they are tender, take out asparagus and lay aside for a few minutes. Have some pieces of toasted bread. Dip them into the water in which the asparagus was boiled. Butter them and place in dish, laying asparagus on top. Thicken with a little flour and add a piece of butter and salt to taste. Pour the mixture over the asparagus, and serve very hot.

Stale Bread.

One way of serving stale bread is to cut it in one-quarter-inch slices, remove crusts and cut each slice in three finger-shaped pieces. Toast on both sides, arrange in a dripping pan, sprinkle with grated cheese and bake until the cheese is melted.

Corn Oysters.

One-half can corn, three or four rolled crackers, two eggs, salt and pepper. Drop by spoonfuls into hot fat and fry. A good substitute for meat.

To Clean Pans.

When cleaning teapots, pot lids, the inside of pots and pans nothing can equal wet emery cloth. It is also good for cleaning tin or zinc basins.

PAYING THE PRICE

By N. H. CROWELL.

A gaunt woman stood in the cabin doorway and peered anxiously down the narrow pathway leading into the depths below. At her knees clung three tow-headed children—haggard, wild-eyed little girls—and the sound of half-stifled sobbing told of grief rankling in their childish bosoms.

After a careful scrutiny of the timber far beneath, the woman turned and patted the girls' heads reassuringly.

"When are we a-goin' to eat, mam?" inquired the eldest, for perhaps the tenth time.

"When pap comes, child," came the weak response.

The woman's hollow cheeks flushed as she glanced swiftly toward the little cupboard in the corner—she knew its bitter secret. Jim, her husband, also knew it when he descended that narrow path early in the morning.

From the depths a whistle sounded up clear and keen, and the anxious face of the woman became pitiful with tense, eager hope. Nearer came the sound, and presently the crackle of branches brushed aside could be heard.

"Lissy?" 'Twas a man's voice—expectant—full of cheer.

"Jim!" That word spoke volumes. The children darted away, and somewhere in the dark a laughing, scuffling capture took place. The woman smiled slightly and turned quickly to her work—her preparations for a meal.

Beleaguering the four entered the cabin, the children tugging at a wealth of packages clasped beneath the man's long arms. One stride took him to the table and he dropped his burden thereon, hastily, as though glad to have done with them.

"Purty late, Lissy, by Jo!" he said. "Thought I never would git up them rocks beyond Cole's fork. I'm clean tuckered."

"Jim!" The word trembled pitifully. "Yuh hain't got no credit down yender, have yuh, Jim?"

"No, Lissy, I hain't."

"No money been a-comin' in to yuh nowhere, Jim?"

"They raided a wilcat this a-tuhnoon, Lissy," he said, awkwardly.

"Who got took?" 'Twas a prompt, eager, ready query.

"Tunk Sellers. I heard they ketched 'im."

"Shore, Jim?"

"Yes, Lissy, I'm shore."

She stooped and busied herself at the stove—her eyes wide, like those of a hunted animal. A short time elapsed and the savory odor of frying meat dwelt fragrantly upon the air. The children circled clamorously about the table, expectant.

"Set up, Jim," said the woman, presently.

He shook his head slowly.

"I hain't hungry, Lissy."

She did not argue the matter—her voice prevented it. The meal was nearly over when the man arose and stood before a cracked bit of looking glass that hung on the wall. Presently he turned and dropped a small packet into the woman's lap.

"Yuh nought git yuh a better glass, Lissy. Yuh will—won't yuh, gal?" He spoke tenderly, yet harshly.

She dropped her fingers and they met the packet. The fingers instinctively closed over it. Her eyes studied the faded design in the cloth fixedly.

Upon a little shelf stood a battered clock. He picked it up and began winding it, after which he shook it to his ear. Replacing it, he stretched himself lazily—then kissed the little girls, beginning at the eldest.

The woman's face was now buried in her apron. He put his broad hand upon her gray-flecked locks, bent low and whispered:

"Lissy—woman—I—I'm goin'."

Silently he opened the door and stepped out into the darkness.

Crack! It came up, clear and crisp—the sound of a rifle.

Shiftless Jim had taken the price—and a law, as inscrutable as fate, ordained that he should return to the lonely mountain home no more forever.

In many cavalry combats we hear of more damage done by the weight of the horses than by the weapons of the riders. Wild horses often fight with their teeth as well as their feet.
